b. 2017-18 Foreign Exchange Student Welcome

Kevin Taylor, principal at Gladstone High School introduced Ignacio Lomas Alaizola (Nacho) from Spain and his host family John and Tonya Rourke. This is his second time in the United States. He visited before when his sister was an exchange student with the Rourke family. He really likes school in Gladstone. He said the teachers really help the students and there are a lot of fun activities. He has made many friends. It has helped to be able to practice with the soccer team. He is unable to participate in competitions due to the new OSAA rule that does not allow him to compete. When he returns to Spain, he wants to study medicine. Mrs. Rourke thanked the district for accepting his application.

c. GHS Club Presentation

Patti Alexander, vice principal at Gladstone High School, introduced the ASB Welcome Back Video and GHS student Alex Lue. Mr. Lue explained the music video is about school rules such as dress code. ASB produced the video. The board thanked Mr. Lue and the ASB for a job well done.

e. WLK Students

Len Reed, principal at Kraxberger Middle School introduced four students from the leadership class. Ms. Chambers assisted with bringing in the Clover Complements Tree. The students designed the tree for Kindness Month. Their hope is that by providing other students with paper leaves for the tree, students will write down kind thoughts or acts of kindness and place the leaves on the tree. The board thanked the girls for their leadership and asked for a picture of the tree when it's full of leaves.

f. GHS High School Robotics Team

Kevin Taylor, Gladstone High School principal, introduced two members of the robotics team. At an all-girls competition at Caitlin Gabel last weekend the high school robotics team placed second out of 20 teams. The competition is meant to empower ladies in robotics. The students said they were not sure if they were going to the competition until just a few days before. They would have liked more time with their robot. The team presented their trophy to Mr. Taylor and Ms. Alexander on the behalf of Gladstone High School. The board congratulated the team on their success.

3. DISCUSSION/REPORTS

a. Measure 98

Jeremiah Patterson, assistant superintendent, and Kevin Taylor, high school principal, presented an update on Measure 98. Mr. Patterson gave a brief history lesson on its intent and how it ended up arriving to us. There are three required spending areas under the measure, College Credit Access, Graduation Rate and Career Technical. General rules require an updated four year plan each biennium, up to 15 percent of the funds for 8th grade, no more than 5 percent spent on administrative costs, data review requirements, separate accounting and reporting requirements, and local determination on allocation. District determine the local need and adjust spending between the three focus areas. Districts our size are required to spend in at least two of the three categories, including CTE. However, we are likely to spend in all three. Mr. Taylor reported on current classes offered. Students are not taking advantage of the college credits available to them. This is an area that Mr. Taylor and Mr. Patterson want to improve on. Mr. Taylor shared the new ways students have opportunities to earn back credits. He hopes to see improvement in the next two years. Presently, funds have been used to increase FTE by hiring a half time student center coordinator and a full time specialist in the new student center. The position runs the Fuel Ed credit recovery program. Most students are identified for Fuel Ed however some are self-selecting. The classes are two thirds to three quarters full. Students will be surveyed to find out what they would like to take in regards to CTE classes.

Mr. Patterson showed images representing the current outward look for Measure 98 funds. Library for Fuel Ed rooted through the CESD, tech classroom space empty, and an old kitchen that could be remodeled and used for culinary arts. The vision is retention through engagement. There was a comment regarding money being used for all students to earn college credit when some do not intend to go to college. Summer internships for students who want to learn a trade are needed. Superintendent Stewart commented that currently only about 25 percent of students who earn the college credit actually receive it. Mr. Lind said as a teacher who teaches high school courses worth college credit he finds it hard getting students and families to take the credits. Families need more support. There was a suggestion that students who earn the credits during high school come back and share with high school students the advantages they had going into college. There was a brief conversation about the result of a CTE pathway. Mr. Patterson explained that is a distinct set of courses. Students start with entry level classes and then can pick a direction, a program of study. He gave an example of a health pathway. At the end of the pathway students would receive a cord at graduation and a certificate of completion. Another area of focus is to get current high school staff eligible to award college credit. Mr. Patterson said they have been cautious in planning and not wanting to commit too early. Credit recovery is the first focus area and they will continue to study the directions available. The Board thanked them for their time and report.

b. Teacher Mentor Program

Mr. Patterson, assistant superintendent, introduced Rebecca Chitkowski, high school science teacher and Kris Schuberg, high school language arts teacher. This summer they along with Kerry Jeffrey, teacher/evaluation specialist, worked to develop a symposium on new teacher induction. It is a new teacher mentorship program developed with the help of a grant. Ms. Chitkowski said the model is different. The mentors get formal training. There are explicit timelines and responsibilities. Mentor teachers get into classrooms and watch new teachers teach. This year, they have already been in classrooms four times. They are piloting software that is a reflection on video with feedback time stamped from both the mentor and the new teacher. Similar thoughts and differences can be seen. Ms. Schuberg talked about the calendar responsibilities for the mentor program. The goal is to have teachers stay in Gladstone and understand the culture. The Board applauded the program, thanked them for their work, and continuing to pay it forward.

5. INFORMATION FROM STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE

Alex Lue, student representative reported to the Board on matters of interest at Gladstone High School. Mr. Lue is the ASB Historian. He said it is an honor to be part of the district and to work with such amazing people. ASB along with student senate have been busy getting ready for homecoming week. A banner was made to thank first responders for all they do. It is going to each school so that students and staff may write messages. It will be showed during the football game. They hope to display the banner at the fire station after the game. There is a penny drive to raise money for the Red Cross. Students are working hard and there is a positive feel at school. All new students were invited to an ice cream party to help them make connections. Mr. Lue said all of the activities at GHS have great bonding events like team dinners and the family feel in each activity is strong. There are healthy rivalries between schools at contests. Students appreciate the time after school with teachers. ASB is working on more videos to highlight student life. Mr. Lue hopes to run for class president next year and wants pursue engineering in college. The board thanked Mr. Lue for his report.

6. INFORMATION FROM ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

Each of the District's administrators reported to the Board on matters of interest concerning his/her area of responsibility.

Jere Applebee, director/principal of the Gladstone Center for Children and Families, reported teachers worked hard on routines in September. October activities are many such as the jog-a-thon, pumpkin patch field trip, and parent conferences. Burgerville teacher night raised over $1,650 in three hours. The funds will be used for PBIS program. Mr. Applebee read thank you notes from Lewis and Clark graduate students. Mr. Bjornsen and Mr. Bill Stewart are helping with trauma informed practices and social/emotional professional development for teachers. Mr. Robinson will be there and teachers will receive credit.

Wendy Wilson, principal at John Wetten Elementary, reported today was career day. Over 20 careers were represented. There were many speakers and students dressed up.

Kevin Taylor, principal at Gladstone High School, reported a former Gladstone graduate has a company that created homecoming t-shirts. The ASB is selling them for a donation and giving the funds to the Red Cross. Mr. Lue did thank you notes during a recent assembly. He represents all of the kids and does a great job. Progress reports are this week. October 25th is the PSAT day. On that day students not taking the test will have a variety of activities such as CPR certification, TED youth talks, and financial information courses. October 30 will be a college fair visit. Mr. Taylor and Ms. Alexander are doing goal setting conferences with staff. Parent conferences are at the end of the month. Board members thanked Mr. Taylor for his letter to families regarding the national anthem. They express their agreement with the process and approach.

Kelly Welch, director of special services, updated the Board regarding her report last month. Last year under Title X, there were 32 individuals served and 9 families. Incredible things are happening with students in transition. Transition age students range from age 16 to 21. There are 12 students currently being served. Eight of the students have graduated. The other four are still in school. Ms. Bennett, the transition coordinator assists them through job application forms, taking time off from their jobs and all transitions to adult work.

Lennie Bjornsen, director of family services and supports, thanked the board for recognizing NW Family Services. He talked the importance of partnerships and how out of one partnership other partnerships evolve. Middle school administration is working with Trillium Health Services on welling being as part of Kraxberger Rising. Providence partnership came to us through the Little Leopards Camp.

Tammy Tracy, director of community schools and human resources, the auction is happening. Donations are coming in and she is busy making final arrangements.

7. SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

a. Financial Report

The financial report for the month ending September 30, 2017 was presented. Samantha Nelson, Director of Finance and Operations, reported auditors come in a week and a half. They will be on site for one week. Mrs. Nelson will have a clearer picture of the current budget next month after the first quarter ADM is filed and the open enrollment benefit period is finished. She directed the Board to the grants. October 1 is the effective date of several grants. The copy machine bid process has closed. She will begin working on selecting the right machines for the district. She is hoping for a few dry days to get some roofing alternatives applied to extend life of the roofs and fix any leaks. There was mention of a water leak in the industrial arts room. Mrs. Nelson will have Mr. Johnson look at it. The Energy Trust was in district for two days looking at our energy systems. Right away they found that one system was trying to cool while another was trying to heat. Some set points were adjusted so that systems were not competing with each other. In addition was revealed that the flow between rooms needs adjustments. Staff is beginning to look at that issue. The increase of flow needed downstairs at the administration building is being scheduled.
