Kevin Taylor, Principal at Gladstone High School, introduced Owen Hayes and Kyler Pak. Heaven Wallack was not in attendance. Both valedictorians shared highlights from their time in Gladstone schools. The Board congratulated them on their success and wished them well in their next endeavors.

Valedictorian Owen Hayes:

Owen's years at Gladstone High School provided opportunities to grow inside and outside the classroom. Owen participated in many extra-curriculars, including the soccer, track, and robotics teams, and received leadership roles in all three. Owen's ultimate career goal is to lead an engineering team based in robotics and/or mechatronics. His time on the robotics team also led Owen to the Boeing Machining Tech Prep program, where he works to turn engineering designs into palpable products. Owen's immediate plan after high school is to complete a mechanical engineering degree at Purdue University. Owen reflects: "The most important aspect of my time at GHS, my faith in Christ, is the same thing that has sustained me for the vast majority of my life. Without it, I am well aware that I would not be where I am today, and I intend to keep living with that truth in mind."

Valedictorian Kyler Pak:

Kyler is the lead programmer of the GHS robotics team and part of the Gladstone High School National Honor Society. He loves everything math and science related and is always aspiring to learn more. One of his favorite memories from school is attending his first robotics competition and meeting all the competing teams. He plans to attend the University of Utah pursuing a major in chemical engineering and minor in computer science for the future. With his degree, he wants to work somewhere helping the environment.

Salutatorian Heaven Wallack:

Throughout high school, Heaven has been heavily involved in National Honors Society and 4-H. Both NHS and 4-H have taught her leadership skills that she values. Specifically, her time in these programs taught her to take initiative and plan things thoroughly in order to achieve the greatest outcome. After high school, Heaven plans to become a registered nurse who specializes within pediatrics or the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. Heaven will attend Portland State University in the fall to complete her nursing program prerequisites, with the goal of transferring to OHSU to complete their one year accelerated nursing program.

Tracey Grant is sad to see Jesse Moore, GHS Campus Monitor leave the district. He has been inspirational to her daughter and helped her become the Cheer Team Photographer. She has a deep appreciation for the entire district. The employees have made a huge difference in her girls' lives.

Jeremiah Patterson said the online STRIDE K-12 program has AP classes available and when students have a desire to attend CCC they help with those partnerships.

Erik Richter said he has been sitting on the committee working with the architect for privacy areas in locker rooms.
